

Save up to 50% on fuel saving in-cab coaching.

TR Driver Training has partnered with EECA - the Energy Efficiency and Conservation Authority - to co-fund in-cab driver coaching for heavy vehicle operators.

Choose your in-cab session

Every in-cab session is conducted by an experienced TR trainer in your vehicle, on your routes. We work around your daily operations - not the other way around.

Coaching happens in real time during the session. Every driver also receives a written report with specific findings and recommendations.

THE COACHING PROCESS

What happens in the cab

01

Pre-drive check

Our trainer meets you at your site and rides along from the start. We begin with a vehicle safety and compliance walk-around to establish baseline habits before a wheel turns.

02

On-road assessment

Our trainer coaches on speed management, braking, cornering, and hazard response, with a particular focus on observation, anticipation, and planning, as well as the driver's use of in-cab technology.

03

Real-time coaching

This is where the fuel savings start to happen. Feedback is given in the cab, in the moment - correcting habits as they occur, not in a debrief room days later.

04

Written report

The session doesn't end when the cab door closes. Every driver receives a written report with specific findings and actionable recommendations - giving drivers and fleet managers a clear record.

SAFED NZ

Safe and Fuel Efficient Driving

Safe and Fuel-Efficient Driving New Zealand (SAFED NZ) is the country's certified driver development course for truck, bus, and coach operators - developed by the Ministry of Transport and the NZ Transport Agency, and supported by the Energy Efficiency Conservation Authority, Bus and Coach Association, Contractors Federation, and Road Transport Forum.

Basic SAFED NZ course

One full day - classroom theory and practical in-cab driving. NZTA SAFED Certificate on completion. On average this course enables a 7.37% fuel saving.

$1,800 + gst per course (max 2 people per course)
